Work Relief Program Faces Uncertain Future With Bill Termed Dead

Expressing "Personal Belief" Senator Byrnes Says There is No Prospect of Reviving the Works Program.

MEANS MAJOR DELAY

Secret Organization to Unite Democrats into Cohesive Force is Under Way in the House.

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—The huge Roosevelt program of work relief, set back to where it was nearly a month ago, faced a nebulous future today. Talk on Capitol Hill ranged all the way from hints the president would carry the fight to the country to a prediction that the bill is "dead" and the "dole" must go on.

It was Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.), an administration supporter, who had said the bill had met its death, but some proponents of the McCarran prevailing wage amendment answered today that they believed this was merely a "threat."

Byrnes amplified today the statement he made yesterday after the $4,880,000,000 bill to which the McCarran amendment had been tacked over the strenuous opposition of administration forces, had been back from the Senate floor to the Senate appropriations committee.

Insisting he was expressing his own belief and not talking for the president, Byrnes said "there is no prospect" of reviving the works program and "the committee probably will do nothing about it."

He expressed the thought the committee would report out an appropriation of $880,000,000 or $1,880,000,000 to carry out the present relief program for six months or a year. This program, strictly speaking is not a dole pure and simple but a combination of dole and work relief.

Such a move by the committee would mean at least a major delay in the president's plan to put $5,000,000 "employable" work on "public works" at "security wages" of about $50 a month. The forces behind the McCarran amendment, which include the American Federation of Labor, want the payment of wages prevailing in private industry.

Secret Cohesion
Meanwhile creation of a secret organization of 100 Democratic members, in an attempt to consolidate "dissatisfied" groups into a cohesive voting unit, was under way today in the House.

The exact plan of strategy had not been mapped, because the movement was still in its formative stage. Some who had discussed the idea, and approved it, said it was the outcropping of a desire to "revolt" and "legislate for ourselves once in a while." Others vigorously denied that a "revolt" was contemplated.

No leader of the movement would permit his name to be used, but the various ideas privately expressed simmered down to this:

One hundred carefully chosen members would be picked to meet either in a "rump" Democratic caucus or in smaller groups to discuss legislation. They would outline a schedule, consider pending bills, accept the recommendations of their own group, and agree to vote as a unit. All would have to make a strict secrecy pledge, agreeing not to disclose their plans to newspapermen or to members outside the group.

Numerous ideas were in the minds of the members seeking to form the organization. One said it could be used to make "the administration see light" on patronage.

Another said that the 100—with sufficient support from Republicans—could force amendments in bills which they did not like.

A third said the 100 could see that "the national forests and parks get a square deal and a little more of this money that is being thrown around."

Democratic leaders, who said they had not heard of the movement, expressed doubt that it would get anywhere since the various groups have such dissimilar ideas.

NEW BILL IS INTRODUCED TO GOVERN JURORS ON STAGE

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A direct result of the attempt to induce the Hauptmann trial jurors to appear on the stage to tell of their experiences, a bill is before the New York legislature today proposing to make it a misdemeanor for any juror to relate his experiences or to accept a bribe on the stage for profit. The sponsor, Assemblyman Carmine J. Marasco, would attempt to prohibit such appearances by jurors within or out of the state. Jurors of the five-week Hauptmann trial received an offer for a vaudeville tour but declined.

Whistle Blows in Shop

Los Angeles, Feb. 23 (AP)—Wiley Post's world circling ship, the "Winde Mac," went back into the shop for minor repairs today as her noted owner-pilot awaited another "blow" in weather conditions for his proposed stratosphere flight to New York city. Forced down yesterday by a heavy off line less than an hour after he took off from Union Air Terminal in Burbank, Post began immediate plans to make a second attempt to span the continent in less than eight hours.

Auto Show Will Stay Open Sunday

Because the inclement weather of today is expected to keep many from attending the Automobile Show at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium the Kingston Automobile Dealers have decided to remain open Sunday afternoon and evening to allow the many persons who have not yet seen the latest models in the automotive world a last chance to do so.

Reports from the show indicate that the show this year bids fair to surpass attendance records in past shows, and dealers said today that many who had planned to attend this afternoon and evening probably would be unable to attend because of the rain and ice. "Some of these people can only attend today and tomorrow," said Joseph Belcher, dealer, "and to give everyone a chance the dealers voted to continue the show another day." The show will also be open this afternoon and evening as previously scheduled.

Oliva Dionne is Wroth Over Way Government Is Splitting Up Family

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 23 (AP)—Oliva Dionne has had enough of being a proxy papa to his quintuplet daughters, and now he and Mama Dionne are going to sue to take the government out of their home life.

"We don't like the way the government is splitting up our family," he said here today between three-day stage appearances.

To do something about it, Dionne announced he had retained Paul Martin, Windsor attorney, to petition the Ontario government to remove the state guardians and release a portion of the $100,000 riches befallen the "quints" for the benefit of the other five Dionne children.

An adjustment of the contract which the Dionnes signed with the Canadian government will probably be sought about March 1, after the parents return to Callander, Ont. It was said by one of the Dionne "personal representatives."

Neither Mama nor Papa Dionne have any bone to pick with Dr. Allan DeFoe, doctor to the "quints"—they said he was "fine"—but they want to have control of their brood again.

"We have 10 children," Mrs. Dionne said recently, "and we are not in favor of having five of them millionaires while their little brothers and sisters are brought up in comparative poverty. They're all in the same family and they should be brought up like that."

And this business of a special hospital and special rules gets the Dionne indignation worked up.

"Why," Papa Dionne declared heatedly, "the five other children have only seen their little sisters twice—both times behind glass, and other people can get into the hospital anytime."

To a French-Canadian interrogator, according to the Canadian press, Mrs. Dionne related:

"On one occasion I wanted the little shirts the quintuplets had worn. They had outgrown them and I felt I would like to have them. One of the nurses ordered me out of the hospital, threatening to strike me with a flashlight she had."

But it's because of the other children that the "quints" father becomes indignant. "That's why we are on this tour," he said.

"The other children are not being treated right."

Dionne said that upon birth of the quintuplets he was taken off relief and given $75 a month from the trust fund established for the babies. This fund now amounts to approximately $160,000—part of it proceeds from commercial sources, it was understood.

"There is a lot of things to say about the babies," hinted Dionne. "The children are mine and I want to have something to say about them."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—The position of the treasury on February 20 was: Receipts $84,840,708.42; expenditures $116,308,052.17; balance $2,114,618,423.04; customs receipts for the month $17,065,825.44. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $2,219,702,562.70; expenditures $4,415,334,884.72 (including $2,274,176,051.60 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures $2,195,632,321.92. Gold assets $8,480,028,415.38.

R. J. Brown Is Dead

Cornell, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Robert J. Brown, 43, portrait painter, is dead after several weeks' illness. He was a graduate of Grand Central Art School and had lived in Brooklyn many years. Several New York galleries exhibited his pictures. He died in Cornell Hospital yesterday.

Trouble Seems Brewing At Albany With Eight Vital Issues on Program

Ninth Week To Begin Monday Night When in Addition to Utilities, Major Problems May Be Debated.

MALTBIE TO RETURN

P. S. C. Chairman May Make Reply to Acid Attack by Senator Dunnigan on Rates.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—The high-voltage power issue which has crackled through the New York legislature the last week left official Albany still uneasy today, fearful that the week-end will bring further explosions in Democratic ranks over the Key law of Governor Herbert H. Lehman's utility reform legislation.

Apparently in control of the situation after his warning he will not tolerate any tampering with his emergency rate reduction law which the legislative utility investigating committee has declared unconstitutional, Governor Lehman prepared to go to New York city tonight for the week-end and await developments.

Democratic Senate Leader John J. Dunnigan, chairman of the committee, already has departed for New York city without venturing a reply to the governor's pointed reminder that the main reason for the creation of the group was to investigate possible improper links between public utilities and public officials.

The committee thus far has handled that phase of the inquiry very lightly, although it began its functions last year as a direct result of the expose of former Senator Warren T. Thayer's connection with the utilities.

Chairman Milo R. Maltbie of the Public Service Commission, target of a vitriolic attack by Senator Dunnigan, is due back in New York city on Monday after a few days in the south.

Maltbie may make a statement at that time in answer to the Democratic leader's charge, among others, that "it may be that Mr. Maltbie is attempting to destroy our committee before it starts its investigation of the Public Service Commission."

The investigating committee aroused the ire of the governor and Mr. Maltbie when it recommended the Public Service Commission be permitted to fix temporary rate reductions on the basis of "fair value" and "reasonable return" instead of so as to permit a utility to earn not less than five per cent as at present.

Meanwhile with the ninth week of the 1935 session beginning Monday night, legislators saw trouble brewing for the closing days that may prolong the session far beyond the scheduled adjournment March 15.

In addition to the utility problem, these issues seem destined to provoke bitter debate:

Part-Mutual Betting.
Unemployment Insurance.
Legislative and Congressional re-apportionment.

Workmen's Compensation Insurance.
Sunan-Ehrlich bill requiring students in state supported institutions to swear allegiance to the state and federal constitutions.
Compulsory automobile insurance.
Milk advertising and free milk distribution.

Betty Gow Embittered

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—Embittered at what she termed "brutal and unjust" attacks upon her by the Hauptmann defense, Betty Gow, former Lindbergh nurse, was resting in London today for continuing to her home in Glasgow. Accompanied by her mother, who met her there a few days ago, she looked pale and said she had lost fifteen pounds in weight during the trial. "We want to forget that terrible time," said Betty's mother. "I probably will send Betty away for a short holiday before deciding what she will do."

In Good Health

L'Anister, England, Feb. 23 (AP)—Autopsies on the bodies of Jane and Elizabeth DuBois, who plunged from an airplane Thursday indicated both had been in good health. The official report of the post-mortem will not be announced until the inquest Monday.

William Bush, Allaben, Killed 8:20 P. M. Friday, Struck by Paehlamb Car

Otto Paehlamb, Shandaken Resident, Says He Did Not See the Man Before the Fatal Impact Near Bush Home.

AUTOPSY IS HELD

Coroner Humiston Ordered Autopsy; Exact Cause of Death Not Disclosed by Authorities.

William Bush, 57-year-old resident of Allaben, was instantly killed near his home Friday night about 8:20 o'clock when struck by an automobile driven by Otto Paehlamb of Shandaken.

Coroner Howard B. Humiston of Kerhonkson, who was called, turned the body over to undertaker Eugene B. Gormley of Phoenixia and ordered an autopsy performed at his morgue. This was done by Dr. Quinn of Phoenixia and Dr. D. B. Meyers of Kingston.

At the time The Freeman went to press, Coroner Humiston had not rendered an official verdict. He said that where Bush was struck the road runs straight without any curves, and that judging from the blood stains the man likely was in the center of the road when hit.

The coroner also said that from the appearance of the body, the man had been killed instantly. His skull appeared to have been fractured and his left leg broken.

Mr. Paehlamb stated he did not see Bush until his car struck him. Several men who were walking along nearby aided in carrying the body off the road. State Trooper Nolan is investigating the accident.

Mr. Bush is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Russell Frazier of Bushville, and one son, Lawrence of Long Island. His body is resting at the Gormley Funeral Home in Phoenixia where friends may view it at their convenience. Funeral and interment will be announced later.

Two More Tests

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Lawyers for the New Deal are busily preparing for two more important tests in the Supreme Court within a few weeks. On March 13, the constitutionality of the railroad pension act will be argued in the high tribunal. The decision will have a direct bearing on social security legislation now before Congress. In the week of April 1, the justices will hear arguments on the constitutionality of the National Recovery Act. This law expires June 16, but the President has asked its continuance for two years. Both cases were brought directly to the Supreme Court from adverse decisions in district federal courts, to avoid delay.

Ratification Fight

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Another fight over ratification of the federal child labor amendment loomed today following reports Governor Herbert H. Lehman was ready to use his influence to force the issue to a vote in the legislature. The governor, it was understood, has indicated he might attempt to persuade Speaker Irwin Steingut, Democratic leader of the Lower House, to call for a record vote on the amendment. A resolution proposing ratification of the federal amendment was killed in the Senate Judiciary Committee but a companion measure now is before an assembly committee.

To Defend Cause

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—The New Deal moved today to defend its vast electrical power development in the Tennessee valley against a formidable local threat. Friends of the administration anticipated a quick appeal from a ruling yesterday by Federal Judge W. L. Grubb of Alabama that the Tennessee Valley authority has no legal authority to dispose of surplus power generated at hydro-electric plants on the Tennessee river.

Mellon Will Testify

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sometime before his $2,583,000 income tax case closes Andrew W. Mellon will be on the stand to tell his own story. The Pittsburgh multi-millionaire, who reeks a $123,000 refund on his income tax, is spending the week-end with his attorneys working on the case in which the government has a counterclaim he should pay more than $2,000,000 in tax and penalties for 1931.

Kodak Official Dies

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Thomas of the Eastman Kodak Company for the last seven years, Rudolph Speth, 64, is dead of septicaemia today. He had been with the Kodak concern 22 years. Born in Bavaria, he came to America in 1912. He held positions in Chicago as an accountant and was secretary of the American Copper, Brass and Iron Works for five years before joining the Eastman Kodak Company in 1912.

Swallowed a Pin

Batavia, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—An operation on three-year-old Ruby Fleming to remove a safety pin she swallowed appeared successful today. Ruby was holding the open pin in her mouth while "helping mother" to dress her baby sister when it slipped down her throat. The pin was taken from her stomach yesterday.

9 Known Dead In Winter's Most Treacherous Weather

9 Men, Women Reported Lost, Were Only Delayed

Phoenixia, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Nine New York city men and women were recovering from exposure today following several hours of aimless wandering on the snow-clad slopes of Wittenberg mountain. The group, four men and five women, lost their way while on a skiing trip yesterday. Searching parties tramped over the mountain for nearly six hours before Frank Tyler, a guide, located the party. Their names were not learned.

Spokesman Denies Exposure

A spokesman for the party said today the men and women were "simply delayed by the heavy snow and did not return to the boarding house until late after dinner that evening" was the report received this morning from the George A. Kinney boarding house at Woodland, where the party is stopping.

In reply to a query over the telephone today it was stated that the party had gone out on snowshoes for a trip up the mountain side, and were delayed by the heavy snow, which made progress slow and difficult. At the boarding house it was stated that those in the party did not want to have their names made public and that the trip had not proved injurious to their health in any way.

"Sandwich Man" Who Found $42,000 Bonds Is Taken to Bellevue

67-Year-Old Man Who Went From Flophouse to Fame and Fortune Goes on Rampage—Shouts "I Am God!"

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Frank Grezes, the 67-year-old sandwich man who gained fame and a better job by finding bonds worth $42,000 and returning them to the owner, went on a rampage early today in the hotel where he lives.

"I am God," he shouted. "I can kill anyone who looks at me."

While police and a doctor were attempting to restrain the sign carrier, Michael J. Gryewacz, 40, walked into the room and complained of feeling ill.

"I am God," Grezes shouted again, glaring at the newcomer. "I can kill anybody."

Gryewacz dropped dead.

Grezes already had sent one man to a hospital with a push down a flight of stairs.

The man who had given Bowery bums their greatest inspiration of the winter was taken to a police station and there, with the body of Gryewacz lying only a few feet away, was held down by policemen until he could be removed to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital.

"I am God," he shouted as a crowd gathered. "Nothing is too good for me. The hat I wear is worth $15. I have on $19 shoes. Nothing is too good for me. I am God. I can kill anybody who looks at me."

"People stare at me," he cried. "Ever since I found the money in Wall Street they stare at me all the time."

"That's why I killed him."

"I killed three today, but I had a bad day. I usually kill from ten to fifteen."

Grezes was earning a dollar a day advertising a passport photo studio when on February 5 he stopped from his sandwich boards and picked a wallet from the muddy gutter. In it were the bonds. He immediately notified police.

The brokerage firm which lost the bonds notified him in new clothes, gave him $100 and a better job. The Surety Company gave him a reward and a weekly bonus. Every mail increased his wealth with checks from admirers all over the nation.

A discouraged, shabby delinquent became the Croesus of the Bowery. He got a dollar a minute in contrast to a dollar a day—for telling of his good fortune over the radio.

But the transition was too great for Grezes.

He was ascending the stairs in the hotel where James Kelly, also 67, was descending. Grezes sent Kelly plunging down the stairs, badly lacerating his scalp.

Grezes next walked into the trading room and shouted his boast before 25 other guests. The first policeman to arrive found him rolling on the floor, still shouting, and called aid. Four officers and a doctor were trying to restrain him when Grezes walked in, heard the throat buried at him, opened wide his eyes, and crumpled to the floor.

The story of what had happened to Grezes spread like wildfire throughout the Bowery flophouses.

Men who had accepted his apparent good fortune as evidence that they might be down and yet not out, pondered over it.

9 Known Dead In Winter's Most Treacherous Weather

HEAVY SNOWFALL

Snow, Hail and Rain Swept Across New England From Maine Down to Connecticut.

By the Associated Press.

Winter's most treacherous weather—snow, rain, and freezing temperatures—implored the northeastern states today under skiddy coatings of ice.

In the snow-bound regions of Pennsylvania and northern New York most highways were blocked and secondary roads impassable.

Automobile accidents took at least nine lives.

Most air lines were grounded and buses, where service was not suspended, were operating far behind schedule.

Five deaths were attributed to the storm in New Jersey. Three were killed when two cars skidded and crashed in the center of a broad highway, and two others were seriously injured in Newark, N. J.

A Rotterdam, N. Y., newsboy was killed when his bicycle was struck by an automobile whose driver was blinded by wind-driven snow. Walter V. Johnson, 29, of Bensenville, N. Y., chairman of his city Democratic committee and an intimate friend of state party leaders, died when his automobile collided with a trailer-truck on the Albany-Schenectady road.

Many upstate New York counties were under deep banks of snow and in some railroad service was affected.

A fall of two and a half inches in Buffalo, N. Y., brought the week's total to nine inches. In Binghamton, N. Y., a blizzard of more than ten inches, which, whipped by strong winds, were blown into towering snow banks. Snow plows were ineffectual clearing roads.

Snow, hail and rain swept across New England from Maine to Connecticut and New Haven, Conn., was under more than two inches of snow.

Boy Killed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A heavy snow storm that reached state-wide proportions resulted in one death in the vicinity of Albany today and delayed traffic in general.

Donald J. Smith, 14, Rotterdam newsboy, was killed when his bicycle was struck by a car, the driver of which, Anthony J. Dominelli, also of Rotterdam, was blinded by wind-driven snow.

All air travel was at a standstill, and some trains from the west were running more than an hour late.

Steuben county was covered with seven or eight inches of snow.

New York Ice-Covered

New York was encrusted with sleet today, imperiling pedestrians and vehicles, third rails on the elevated lines were ice covered, slowing trains and all motor cars and buses moved cautiously. Rain and rising temperature promise to wash away the ice tomorrow.

Buffalo Digs Out

A night snow found Buffalo digging out again today after a fall of two and one-half inches boosted the total for the week to nine inches.

The flakes, blown by a 16-mile wind from the east, drifted badly in outlying sections and driving was hazardous in the freezing temperatures which touched a low of 15 degrees at 11 p. m. before beginning an upswing that hit 21 at 2 a. m. Drifts were a foot deep at the Buffalo airport, and cities and villages of western New York reported banks varying from one to three feet.

The Weather Bureau reported the total snow fall for the month was 14.3 inches, or 2.7 below normal for February.

Transportation facilities were not disrupted by the night's storm except for American Airlines. Its planes were grounded, but it was expected service would be resumed today between this city and Chicago. Maintenance of the regular schedule to New York, however, was unlikely.

Roads Blocked

At Marlsville, Pa., the Greyhound bus station was informed today that one-way traffic had been established on snow-blocked Pennsylvania mountain roads and motorists marooned during the night were slowly making their way down the long grade.

Four buses and about 100 motor cars were halted on the mountain by 16-foot snowdrifts. Many of the travelers sought shelter in a roadhouse on top of the mountain and some of the bus passengers remained comfortably inside the big vehicles until they were able to move.

At the Democratic Inn, the mountain top roadhouse, it was said all four of the buses were on the move but that snow plows had yet to clear off several drifts before they could make unimpeded progress.

A completed three-foot snowfall, accompanied by a 24-mile wind, caused the blockade which began at 7 o'clock last night. The blizzard plowed about six miles from Marlsville, where it "quarantined" through the night and the remainder reported early today most of its temperature.

Storm Halted Work On ERB Projects

The snow storm of today halted all work on local emergency relief bureau projects, but work will be resumed with a full force Monday morning, weather conditions permitting. The greater part of the work projects now being carried on by the ERB are sewer construction and the relaying of new water mains. Friday the only work done was on East Chester street where a new sewer is being built and a new 6-inch water main is being laid to replace the present 4-inch main.

City Sand Spreader Placed at Work Here

Superintendent James Norton of the Board of Public Works stated this morning that the sand spreader had been placed at work sanding down the dangerous hills in the city to avoid traffic accidents and that judging from weather conditions this morning the sanding machine would be kept at work all day. He also placed a number of men at work this morning shoveling the sidewalks in front of city properties and the parks.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Feb. 23.—There will be a preaching service held at the Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock following the session of the Sunday School. Mr. Spaulding, a well-known Salvation Army religious worker from Kingston, has been secured as the speaker. There will be a special musical program given in connection with the service. This is the first church service to be held in several months and it is urged that everyone attend.

Miss Ethel Roosa of New York City spent the week-end with her parents, Superintendent and Mrs. Frank Roosa, at High Point Springs Farm.

An item of local interest as gleaned from the current issue of Kingston High School's Dame Tutor states that word has come from Miss Ruth Mowell from San Diego, Calif., where she is spending the winter. Miss Mowell is also continuing her art work there in which she became so interested at school in Kingston. She is also studying at an Academy of Fine Arts. Many readers will recall that as a child Ruth spent several years with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mowell, at Bushkill Heights where they owned a farm. For a time before the family moved to Kingston she attended the West Shokan school. Mr. Mowell, who had not been in good health during the time of their residence here, died several years ago.

On Wednesday evening the first of a series of weekly cottage prayer meetings was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard Bell of Main street. The devotional service was conducted by the Rev. and Mrs. O. H. Lockett of Olive Bridge. Much interest was shown by the group present. Perchance West Shokan Community is on the verge of an old time religious revival. Next Wednesday evening another service will be held at the Bell residence with a greatly increased audience indicated. A stirring song fest will precede the devotional service.

Martin J. Every of Traver Hollow was a business caller Thursday afternoon at West Shokan Heights where he delivered a pair of his famous farm raised bronze turkeys.

Henry Winchell, the genial squire of Sunny Cliff, has finished cutting his annual crop of firewood.

No Ladies' Aid meeting was held this week, but next Wednesday the assembly is again invited to gather at Maple Dell.

Mr. and Mrs. Golden Van Benschoten of Henlock Knoll, Shokan, spent Wednesday with their cousins, Mrs. Watson Bishop and Mrs. Chase Davis, at West Shokan Heights.

Alonso Burgher has been assisting Judge Fred L. Weidner North Main street grower vender.

Mrs. Sarah Dwyer of West Shokan Heights is ill at her home with grip and under the care of Dr. J. Cosgrove of Brothhead.

John Jordan returned home Thursday. Mr. Jordan has spent about five weeks in Kingston where he underwent a critical operation at the Benedictine Hospital. All hope that Mr. Jordan's enforced vacation may be followed by a lasting return to his former stalwart and kindly self.

James Burgher of Maple Dell Farm has been sick in bed all week with a severe case of grip. All hope smiling Jim will soon be getting back on his feet again.

It is reported that Willis Eckert of Bushkill Heights is suffering with a recurring infection in his arm which was injured last summer when he fell from the hay wagon. His many friends sympathize keenly in his misfortune.

There is a whisp of Washington's birthday social spirit noted. Doubtless there will be a house full attendance Saturday evening at the Bushkill Inn public house party.

Heart Beats Perfectly

Cleveland, Feb. 23 (AP)—The first human heart to undergo an operation for that deadly affliction, angina pectoris, is beating "satisfactorily" today, ten days after the operation. The patient, whose identity and age are guarded closely by hospital officials, is gaining strength. He was submitted to the operation at the hands of Dr. Claude S. Beck, member of the hospital's staff, after physicians told him of the gravity of his ailment. "The condition of the patient is satisfactory," the hospital supervisor of nurses said today. "The doctors permit me to say that he has evidently gained strength daily since the operation. The gain has been steady and encouraging."

Citizens Reserve Corps

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—A plan to bring new blood into American government through a citizen's civil service reserve corps, comparable to the present military reserve, has been proposed by Secretary Rogers. Designed to furnish an "intellectual reservoir" for government during "mushroom growth" of radicalism, the plan proposes the training of citizens, especially students, through actual contact with government.

Asks Commitment

Williamsport, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP)—A mental specialist has recommended that a five-year-old boy, involved in a reported "sex slaying," be committed to an institution for feeble-minded. Dr. Horace V. Pike, of the Danville State Hospital, sent the recommendation to District Attorney John C. Youngman. He had examined John Fritz, Jr., who allegedly slashed his baby brother after being treated by a "Fair Dealer."

Defends NRA

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Donald R. Richberg says NRA should not be "destroyed" because some business organizations may have abused the privileges it grants. His remarks, made in a speech to the committee of one hundred last night, were considered a reply to critics who have been saying that the big eagle agency has fostered monopoly and that the anti-trust laws should be applied in full force.

Big Father And Son Banquet Held Friday By Redeemer Church

Brotherhood of Church Held First Affair of the Kind in History of Its Organization—Rosa Osterhoudt Principal Speaker—Magician Van Deusen and Others on Entertainment Program.

The first Father and Son banquet ever held by the Men's Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer was held in the church on Friday evening, and the seating capacity of the banquet hall was taxed to its limit by the large attendance of fathers and sons who had assembled to enjoy the fine menu prepared by the Ladies' Aid Society, and the speaking and entertainment program that had been arranged by the committee in charge of the affair.

Rosa Osterhoudt was the principal speaker of the evening and impressed upon the dads present that if they could give their sons but one thing, it should be enthusiasm for the right things in life. That was the message that he brought home in an excellent address that was studied with a number of humorous stories and incidents of life.

The Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, pastor of the church, spoke briefly impressing upon the fathers and sons that the job of being a Christian was far from being a sissy job.

Postmaster William R. Kraft also spoke briefly and said that he was glad to be present and meet with the men and boys of the church.

Banqueting tables had been spread in the large Sunday school room and at each place was a small American flag. During the serving of the dinner and throughout the evening the banqueters sang a number of popular songs with Rodney DuBols at the piano.

Following the serving of the banquet John Houghtaling, president of the Men's Brotherhood, introduced Edward J. Luedtke as toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Luedtke had a fund of witty stories, and presented the speakers and entertainers of the evening.

The opening number on the entertainment program was a number of selections by the Kingston Cornhuskers, a trio of local young men, Link Bailey, Charles Khediran and Matt Van Keuren, who are now appearing at the Eichler Hotel. The boys made a big hit with their playing and jokes.

Joe Zoda with his piano accordion played a number of selections and was heartily applauded.

Ray Nickerson, local chalk artist, who has appeared before a number of Kingston audiences, pleased the banqueters with his drawings and talk.

The entertainment program was brought to a close with an exhibition of magical tricks by Fred L. Van Deusen, the well known local magician. Mr. Van Deusen, as usual, made a big hit with the audience and his closing stunt that of turning a boy from the audience into a pump went over with a smash.

Al Messinger delivered the toast to the sons while the toast to the dads was delivered by Ernest Mosher.

One of the most successful social functions ever held by the Men's Brotherhood was then brought to a close with the Benediction by Pastor Gaenzle.

The general committee who had charge of arranging the banquet were John Houghtaling, Alfred Messinger, Montgomery Bailey, Richard Bailey, Richard Buhl, Christian Port, Harry Houghtaling, Edward J. Luedtke, Warren Hutton, Carl Berulson, William Miller, Alva Bruce, Edward Houghtaling and Walter Hutt.

Massawa Bustling With Warlike Scenes

Jidda, Arabia, Feb. 23 (AP)—The city of Massawa, across the Red Sea from this Mecca seaport, was bustling with warlike activity today as the forces of It Duce prepared for possible conflict with Ethiopia.

Massawa would be one of Italy's strategic centers in case of a clash. Persons arriving from that port reported hotels packed with officers and the streets thronged with Italian and native soldiers.

They reported troops busily engaged in shipping huge quantities of barbed wire, aerial bombs and ammunition of all sorts to Somaliland. Thirty thousand barrels of aviation gasoline have been unloaded at the Eritrea port. Six gunboats were anchored in Massawa harbor, manned partly by native sailors dressed in picturesque native uniforms, including a high red fez.

No women were seen on the streets of all Massawa, either native or white. Tame gazelles giving an odd touch to the warlike scene, walked calmly along the docks, among boxes of ammunition and other cargo, undisturbed by the bustling work.

It was learned that other forces are concentrated at Azmara, capital of Eritrea, which nestles on top of a 7,000-foot range of mountains.

A Dark Mystery

New Orleans, Feb. 23 (AP)—Africa's "sexuplets" do not seem destined to go into active competition with the Monroe Quintuplets. Dr. Edward A. Schumann, obstetrician of the University of Pennsylvania, who exhibited a photograph of six negro babies at a medical meeting here, said he had not the "faintest idea" when they were born or whether they were still living. He said the photograph had been sent to him by a medical missionary at Accra, on the African coast. The doctor's wife at Philadelphia expressed the belief the babies were born "at least ten years ago."

Card Party

There will be a card party at Comforter Hall Tuesday afternoon beginning at 2:15. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Red Army Observes 17th Birthday Today

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—Soviet Russia's Red army of 550,000 men celebrated today its seventeenth birthday in the midst of a torrent of defiance for world imperialism and a passing rebuke for the exiled Leon Trotsky.

A rarely used expression, "Soviet patriotism," made itself heard among the toasts to Russia's military machine, built to protect Soviet civilization against what was described as greedy Fascists who are rattling the sabre to the east and to the west.

Leaders all over the country addressed public messages of acclaim to the army. Izvestia, leading Soviet newspaper, referred to it as the personification of Soviet patriotism and at the same time the proletariat of internationalism.

Glorification of the Red soldier was replete with barbed thrusts against the Germans and the Japanese.

"We cannot fold our hands when we know that the imperialists plan to attack us. Raging imperialistic cliques to the east and west of us are openly proclaiming programs of war against us," said Karl Radek in Izvestia.

Curb on War Profits

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Proposals to curb war profits by price control and to gnaw at them with income taxes were studied today by the senate munitions committee as it neared the time for showing the senate what it has accomplished with its $100,000 appropriation. With examination of two shipyards completed, the committee will begin Monday to question officials of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company headed by Eugene Grace, who will be the major witness.

Saturday Social Review

More than 350 friends of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church attended the card party held at the church hall under the auspices of the society on Tuesday evening of this week. So far as can be learned this is the largest function of its kind ever to have been held in the city. In spite of the numbers being far in excess of what the hall can conveniently accommodate, the crowd was managed with dispatch and apparent ease, much of the credit for which is due Miss Teresa V. Brophy, general chairman. The hall was appropriately decorated in red and white in keeping with Washington's birthday. Almost 200 tables of bridge, pinocle and euchre were in play and during the evening table changes were announced by radio loud speaker. At the conclusion of cards refreshments were served. During this time a program of entertainment was given by Teddy and Eddy Weyhe, who presented a song and dance impersonation of Joe Penner and an imitation of a boxing bout shown by slow motion pictures. The latter act especially delighted the audience. Miss Margaret Martin, Miss Marie Ulrich, chairman of cards, and Mrs. Edward P. Rochford, chairman of refreshments, were assisting chairmen to the general chairman, Miss Teresa V. Brophy. Some fifty other ladies of the parish assisted on these committees and were responsible for the success of this annual card party.

Fashions and Household Hints for Women

MODES of the moment

Capes go right down the line to tot styles, too.
Liana Merwin

There is no doubt that children's stitched linen is used for the collar, fashions mimic their elders—and matching hat. The smaller tot is proud in her capelet styled coat done in cadet blue whip cord woolen. The cape is lined with red crepe de chine in true military fashion and the band of red lined bodice and flared skirt remain the outstanding silhouette. The older girl above wears a coat of navy worsted crepe with a row of navy buttons across at front. Crepe de chine in cadet blue lines the cape and cadet blue

Says Fears Of Shrinkage Gone

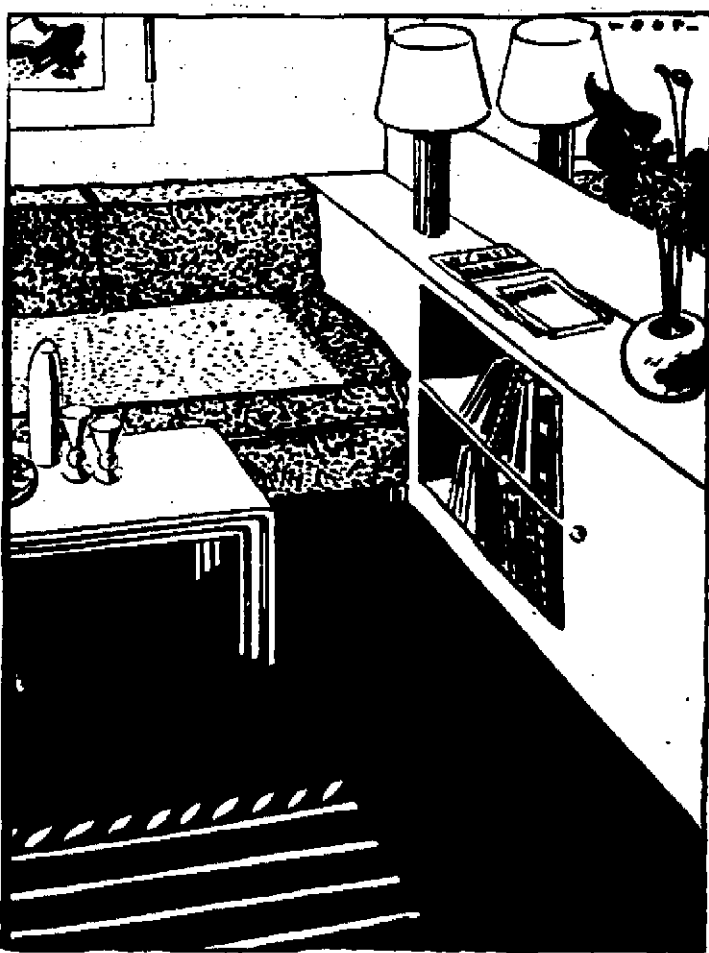

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Shrinkage of cotton or linens need be feared no longer, for they are available everywhere completely shrunken. A group of homemakers were told at Cornell's farm and home week by Clotilde Massoueau of the textiles education bureau, New York city. The process of complete shrinkage, she explained, is not a chemical process as only pure water, live steam and heat are used. The machinery used is controlled by gears.

These gears regulate the amount of shrinkage each fabric should receive. The gauge of shrinkage, by which these gears are adjusted, is determined beforehand by putting the fabric through a wash test. This complete shrinkage service, the speaker said, has grown fast. In 1930, three plants turned out a million yards of fabric. With present equipment, she added, more than a billion yards a year can be handled if the machines work to capacity.

Vinegar Used On Brass

For brass faucets dip a piece of flannel in vinegar and rub well. Should they be greasy wash them with soap-suds first. For nickel faucets merely wash and dry carefully.

New "Designed" Rooms Are Cheaper Than To Buy Furniture Haphazardly

Harmony and "livability" characterize this room

By MARGERY TAYLOR
Copyright, 1935, By McCall's Magazine for The Daily Freeman

Rooms don't happen any more—they are designed. "Interior architects" are creating interiors as well as exteriors and "designer-decorators" are creating new effects and new furnishings as well as merely selecting them. They see and create rooms as a whole, just as did the brothers Adam over a hundred years ago. The difference is that where only the wealth in the 18th century could afford specially designed rooms, now we can have them for less than it costs to go out and buy things haphazardly. The new rooms are what is called "functional"—designed to be lived in. They are designed as units—everything blended, not only for harmony of appearance, but also for "livability". They are simple and comfortable, but they combine the incapacity of the architect with the art of the stage designer in setting the most beauty out of color and texture. Windows in the new rooms are high and long to catch all possible light; they are curtained so that light and view are always under control. Small rooms look spacious with large stretches of unbroken wall, mirror glass fireplaces and panels add depth. Two, three or four colors are used on walls and ceilings of one room—we now know more how light values may be cleverly used. Lamps are lower, but most of the artificial light comes to the right place and in the right intensity from indirect sources—throughs on corners, mantle, book shelves, ceiling beams. Furniture is versatile, many-purposed. Chairs, sofas and tables are low, scaled to room height. One sofa for instance, is in the middle of the room—but the back may be shifted so that you can face either the fireplace on one side or a window on the other.

DECORATORS CLASSIFY VALUE OF COLORS

Among the interior decorators, most colors used for walls and built-in equipment in homes are classed as warm or cool. Of interest to those who are decorating their homes during the winter is the fact that warm colors include all modifications of red and yellow, from the palest straw tint down through orange and brown, and from the most delicate rose color to the deepest crimson and mahogany. Blue, green, and gray are considered cool colors, suitable to small rooms. They often the "one color" of a room and give it a peaceful atmosphere.

Should Plan Each Part of Wardrobe

Individuality in Dress Encouraged by Farm and Home Week Speaker.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Every woman who considers her appearance should plan her whole outfit and each part of it, said Muriel Brasie, of the New York State College of Home Economics to Cornell farm and home week visitors.

"Each woman's clothes are planned around herself, her needs, and her own personality. In these she stands out as an individual rather than as one of the crowd. For example, the energetic active woman may plan her wardrobe to emphasize warm colors and strong contrasts with simple, clear cut lines to avoid pastel shades and the fluff-ruffle design.

"Variety and interest should also be considered," Miss Brasie stated. "This may be introduced through accents of color in jewelry and scarf and in other ways."

Miss Brasie also discouraged the hit or miss system of buying. Do not buy anything, she urged, because it looks well in the store window or because a friend has something like it. In contrast, she said, the way to purchase an outfit is to consider each part in relation to the other parts and to its wearer. This is more economical and allows each garment and each part to look its best.

Tells Homemakers To Study Labels

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 23.—"We will never get our money's worth in fabrics until we have truthful labels that give definite facts about the qualities of goods, and until we read and use the information on such labels intelligently," said Ruth O'Brien of the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics to a group of homemakers at Cornell's twenty-eighth annual farm and home week. She urged homemakers to be sure of what qualities are wanted in each purchase; to let merchants and manufacturers know that definite facts about such qualities are wanted; and to use all available facts. "The qualities we want," she pointed out, "will differ perhaps with every fabric we buy. It depends on what use is made of the fabric at home." "Today, more and more fabrics have labels. Some of them give facts; a few give specifications; and a very few give grades. Read these labels with understanding."

"Sometimes labels give only general 'baldhead' statements which mean nothing at all," she said. "Sometimes statements are misleading; sometimes, unfortunately very seldom now, they are actually untrue." The next thing to do, she said, is to study them with utmost attention.

HELPS for HOUSEWIVES

PARTIES FOR CHILDREN ENLIVENED BY GAMES

The old familiar peanut hunt is a good out-of-door game for a children's party. Hide the peanuts in comparatively easy places so the hunt will not be too difficult. At conclusion of the hunt the child who has found the greatest number wins any simple prize you choose to give. Another good out-of-door game is "Follow the Leader" but be sure the "leader" has spirit without too many difficult ideas.

The potato race is also a good game. Two children can race against each other. Both start at one end of a lawn or veranda and pick up the potatoes at either side, arranged at intervals down the line. Each potato must be balanced on a spoon and carried to the end of a line where there is a waiting basket. If the child loses the potato she must go back for it before going on to the next one. The winners play against other winners until, by process of elimination, all but one have been defeated.

My Beauty Hint

Dry skin frequently may be helped by vegetable oils. Apply at night, cleansing with warm water and castile soap in the morning.

Powder For Grease Spots

Rub talcum powder over grease spots on woolen or silk. Let stand for a day or so and brush off with a clean stiff brush. This is usually very effective and there are no rings left as so often happens when liquids are applied.

Roll your clothes as soon as they are sprinkled and the water will then be better distributed. It makes ironing easier.

A Cold Frame is the Garden Amateur's Best Friend

In those tantalizing weeks of early spring, when a warm sun one day sets the garden fever burning, and freezing weather that night chills the courage, a cold frame is priceless.

Everybody needs one, though he may have a hot-bed, or even a greenhouse in addition. To the great majority of home gardeners, the cold frame will suffice for all real needs in early sowing.

Easy to build, and simple to operate, it enables seeds to be sown several weeks before it would be safe to sow them in the open. With the protection of the glass sash on frosty nights the seeds will germinate, and the seedlings grow sturdy, until they are large enough to transplant into the open ground.

Success in cold frame practice depends upon the judgment used in timing the sowing, so that when transplanting date arrives the danger of frost injury is past. Sowing dates may vary with different crops; depending on the length of germinating periods, which vary greatly in flower seeds, and on the hardiness of the seedling plants. While all baby soon plants, like baby animals, are born hardy and resistant than adults, some will stand light frosts while others will die at a touch of frost.

The earlier you wish to sow seeds, the more important these considerations of detail become. If sown too early, the seedlings will be so crowded that with sowing until four weeks before it would be safe to plant outdoors, it should be safe to go ahead with anything. To make a cold frame, the accompanying illustrations give full and detailed instructions. The soil which is used in it should be fine, friable top soil, well pulverized. Sow the seed as you would in a flat, or hot-bed, water thoroughly and firm the soil over the seed, pressing smooth with a brick or piece of board.

Watering now becomes of great importance. At no time should the soil be allowed to become hard and dry. Yet excessive watering may cause the seeds to rot, sour the soil, or cause "damping off". When the plants appear, thin them out, allowing each to grow singly without crowding.

After the seedlings appear, watering is still important. Good drainage between which the soil dries somewhat without becoming crusty and hard, should be the rule. And fresh air is the next great need. On sunny days, the sash should be lifted early in the morning, otherwise the temperature may quickly rise to a dangerous height. In winter the cold frame should be lifted every morning and afternoon, and remember to remove the sash when the weather changes abruptly. You will keep the young plants growing steadily, which means that they will be ready to transplant when the weather is just what you need.

The youngster's song for 1935: "What is home without a motor?"

Visitor: Did the storm do much damage along the Newhampshire highway?

Native: Did it? The billboards were torn so you could see the scenery in five or six places.

About the only equipment a bandit needs these days is a gun and an automobile.

Said a gentleman the other day: "Before I bought an automobile I said I would never drive one over 15 miles an hour. And since I have one, 15 miles an hour feels like I am stopping."

Lady (engaging a new chauffeur): I want a very careful man, one who will not take any risks whatever.

Applicant: I'm your man, madam. May I have a month's salary in advance?

A home is more necessary than a car. But alas! you can't lean back in a home and roll down Main street.

Friend: I hear your boy friend had a finger in a big transportation deal. Is that right?

Miss: Yes, he thumbed a ride across the country.

Lines to an old sport model: Twinkle, twinkle, little car, What a rusty pile you are! Once you were some owner's pride, Sleek and swift on any ride. Now you're just an old tin can—That's the gratitude of man.

Nothing is certain in this world any more except death, taxes and crumpled fenders.

Hubby: The bank has returned that check.

Wife: Isn't that splendid. What can we buy with it this time?

A public servant is like any other kind. If you give him too much authority, he forgets who is boss.

Man: My wife can talk for hours on any subject.

Neighbor: My wife doesn't need any subject.

You can't make people class conscious in a land where girls getting $10 a week can show as much class as anybody.

First Waitress: Just look at Sandy MacGregor and his girl friend holding hands under the table.

Second Waitress: Say, they aren't holding hands. They are looking for that wad of gum they left last week.

Correct: This sentence: "When I print things that people like," said the editor, "they shower me with letters and notes of appreciation."

Youth: Darling, I'm starving for your kisses!

Girl Friend: Well, control yourself; I'm not a quick-lunch counter.

To survive the worst business depression in fifty years is an achievement, and we'll talk about it just as we talk about our operations.

Visitor: And at what time do you have dinner, my little friend?

Boy: Soon as you're gone.

Most of us feel that our own hard luck is worse than the other fellows.

Poet: Did you tell your family that I was coming over this evening to read some of my verses?

Girl: Yes, and it worked like a charm. They've all gone out to the movies.

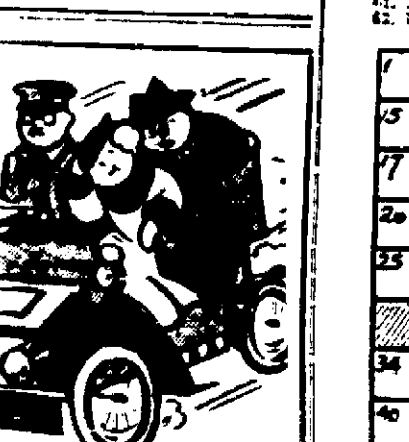

Some middle-aged people pursue a good time with the same fury that a dog chases a rabbit.

Every time you avoid doing wrong you increase your inclination to do right.

Still, It's Safer at Sea

Kile and his wife were hit squarely by a street car at a busy downtown corner, but came off with nothing worse than bruises.

Clay Center, Kas.—More than 50 years ago seven Sunday school boys made a pledge to refrain from smoking and from the use of intoxicating liquor.

Six of them are living and not a one has broken the pledge until he died.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The peculiar verification or lack of it distinguishing the song-hits, "Object of My Affections," was no accident. Its successor, sung by song writer, Pinky Tomlin in his first picture, "Times Square Lady," is called "What's the Reason I'm Not Pleased?"

Pinky will sing it—you know he will—as "What's the reason I'm not pleased?" And with no apologies, either.

Pinky is aware that better-known song-writers than he have criticized his first hit. The strange "breaks" and the lack of rhyme notwithstanding, "Object" has sold phenomenally. "Object" is Pinky's pet name for his musical key to Hollywood.

Only The Guitar
To such critics Pinky concedes that they can play the piano while he plays only the guitar, that they may know a great deal more about it than he does, but on the other hand—"Object" is a hit.

In his new song he rhymes "will" with "milk."

"I know they don't rhyme," he says, "but what do I care—that's my business. And if the public likes it, well!"

Pinky, tall and lean, thin-faced, scraggy-haired and bespectacled, broke all the rules in getting into films. By those rules he should still be wandering around town trying to get somebody to listen to his song, and meanwhile starving.

Instead, Truman Tomlin, so called "hog-calling crooner" who finished a law course at the University of Oklahoma, is a Hollywood sensation, getting a thousand a week for singing and acting, and extra for his songs. Pinky is not surprised, especially. He expected to be a success. Everybody at home and at college, where he had a band, thought "Object" was a wow.

Pinky Sang It
Pinky did not know it would be so easy here. All he did was to persuade Jimmy Grier to let him sing it with the orchestra at a night spot, and the movie sounds did the rest. But Pinky is religious and he believes in predestination. He felt he was predestined to succeed. He was so sure of success that he turned down an offer of $1,500 for rights to his song before he left his home in Durant, Okla.

For all that, Pinky's specialties are not rose-colored glasses. Despite his collegiate assurance, he looks older than his twenty-seven years.

"I'm not used to getting breaks," he said, "this is the first time I've had roses—I'm more used to thorns. No, I'm not going to buy a lot of things. If I've got the money I can always spend it. I'm in no hurry."

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1597-B

Dressy Frock for Girls Eight to Fourteen

The fashion rule for growing girls, this summer, is very simple, and full of contrast. For Sundays and party wear their frocks will have puffed sleeves, many gathers, and perhaps a gay ribbon sash and bow.

The little model sketched is an adaptation from the French. For girls of the ungraceful age it is a charming dress. The upper bodice is designed with youthful sleeves, and a prettily cut yoke that develops into soft-falling bretels on the shoulders, so that in the summer-time it may substitute for sleeves (see back view).

Ribbons have a smart use in sheer frocks. Sashes and bows touch up a monotonous fabric as nothing else can. Here we see a pink dotted-rose made pleasant by adding a discreet measure of ribbon-trimming in the right shade of blue.

Ready-made frocks of this type are admittedly expensive. Try our pattern for this frock, and see the easy economy with which it can be made at home.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1597-B is designed to serve 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires about 2½ yards of 36 inch material; 2½ yards of 1½ inch green and blue ribbon.

Tomorrow: Percale frock for spring house work.

Legionnaires Play Dorps Tonight, Napanoch And Bisons Next Week

Tonight the Legionnaires will open a five game schedule for the week when they stack up against the Schenectady State League in the upstate town. These two teams have already played five games, Kingston holding the edge 3-2.

Tuesday night the Legion boys will play in Ellenville against the strong Napanoch Guards. The Guards will use Van Deusen and Chilson, forwards; Knoll, center; Bruck, Wood and Kelder, guards.

Wednesday evening the Legionnaires return to Kingston to meet the Buffalo Bisons at the Auditorium in the main attraction. In all these games Manager Morgenweck expects to use his regular lineup. "Pop" announces that he may start Jim Lennon at center and have Bill Hamilton substitute at the guard position with Husta or Shimek. He also expects to try Husta out in a forward position.

For the preliminary game on Wednesday the Clermonts will meet the Columbia football contingent that saw action in the Rose Bowl game last fall. The visitors team is made up of gridiron stars including Ed Brominski and Joe Ferrara, forwards; Al Barabas, center, and Al Clampi and Ed Purrey in the back court. Brominski and Ferrara were captains of last year's eleven. This game should provide plenty of action and will be played under amateur rules.

Referees have not been announced as yet with the exception of Harold Johnson, who will handle the whistle in the Ellenville game with the Napanoch Guards.

Tickets for next Wednesday's game are now on sale at the Legion building, West O'Reilly street.

Battery A Defeats Medics of Newburgh

Friday night the Battery A five of the regimental league defeated the Medics at the Newburgh Armory, 39-24. Although minus four of their regulars, Battery A played top notch ball. Taking at 16-7 lead at the half the A's pulled steadily away from their opponents. L. Guess was high for the winners with 12 points, and he was closely followed by Bradford with 10. Weber collected nine points for the losers.

Japan's League Team Will Invade Coast

San Francisco, (AP)—Professional baseball has found its way into the sports picture of Japan. There is a league, with parks and everything, but the league at present has only one team.

The team is coming to the United States for a tour. Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, who starred in the big leagues for many years, will act as advisor for the visiting Japanese players.

O'Doul, who recently returned from the orient which he toured with Connie Mack's American stars, persuaded the Tokyo club to make a trip to this country.

It will be the first Japanese professional baseball team to appear on these shores. O'Doul, who has booked exhibition games with several of the Coast league clubs, says the Nipponese play ball comparable to that produced in Class AA minor leagues.

The Japanese league is in the formative stage, according to O'Doul, who says two clubs are planned for Tokyo, two for Osaka and one each in Yokohama and Nagoya. In the meantime the lone Tokyo team will match its diamond skill with Coast league clubs and such others as may be scheduled before their arrival early in March.

If the coast tour proves popular, the itinerary may be extended to embrace the mid-west and east, says O'Doul.

Tonight at Comforter Hall the Comforter Missions will clash with the Shamrocks for the second time this year. Earlier in the season the churchmen lost to this team, but with the regular lineup of Purvis, Van Bramer, and Quick, forwards; Follotte, center; and Kennedy, highmen and Neer, guards, the church team hopes to average the defeat.

Thoroughbreds Go To Post Today; Equipoise Favored In $100,000 Run

Los Angeles, Feb. 23 (AP)—Equipoise stood today at the cross roads of a great turf career, needing only the Santa Anita handicap mile and a quarter to become the leading money winner of all time.

If the veteran son of Pennant can finish in front in the field of 21 as he is favored to do, his total earnings will skyrocket past the present milestone of $376,744 set up by Sun Beau. His own earnings are $234,110.

More than 50,000 persons were expected to jam Santa Anita Park to the limit for a glimpse of one of the finest thoroughbred fields ever assembled. It was probable the sentiment would be so overwhelmingly in favor of the Whitney horse he would go to the post at odds on favorite. Post time is 7:30 p. m. (eastern standard time).

This is the face of such starters as Twenty Grand, Ladysman, Mate and Head Play, all old rivals of Ekky and a flock of other blue bloods of the turf including Time Supply, Azucar, Gusto, Top Row, Fleam and Faheen.

Out of the 21 listed in the overnight entries, Ladysman was most liked as the runner to beat Equipoise and spoil his plans of blazing a new money winning trail.

Ladysman beat the Whitney charger in the suburban handicap a year ago. He has trained poorly here, perhaps better than Equipoise. His impost was 13 pounds less than Ekky's top weight of 130, and he is younger.

Twenty Grand, with sensational Silvio Concel up, also held a fine chance, coming as he has out of almost three years retirement. Time Supply, winner of the Narragansett and Bay Meadows handicaps, had much backing including that of the track clockers.

Azucar, the revamped steeplechase expert and Gusto also were in for much consideration, not to mention Rosquish Head Play, a handsome thoroughbred which experts feel can win if that is his mood. Equipoise was fortunate in the draw for post positions. Twentieth position will be his this afternoon, the spot from which he works best. From here Jockey Raymond (Sonny) Workman can keep him out of early trouble and perhaps bring him home from back in the rush to win.

Ekky was not the only horse in that classy field hopeful of passing Sun Beau's mark. Mate, A. C. Bostwick's nominee, has collected $297,650 in cash and with first place money certain to be better than $300,000, could move into the coveted position by winning.

But Mate's training here has not been impressive, and it seemed on the face of the facts that his chances of topping such an impressive field were remote.

Still, anything could happen in such a large field, with the riding talent almost as impressive as the mounts. Besides Workman and Concel, there was Maurice Peters and 1934 champion, Don Meade. Tom Luther, George Woolf, Jack Westphal, Charles Kurtsinger and Bobby Jones.

But even at this, the Equipoise-Workman combination, on the basis of past performances, was hard to beat. Workman has booted the champion home in most of his many triumphs since the Pimlico Nursery stakes for 2-year-olds in 1930.

Racing Men Gather at Daytona to Witness Try For Speed Record

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Wherever a speed prince sets his tent to strive for something never before attained with roaring motors, speed men gather as though drawn by magnets, and the 300-mile an hour argosy of Sir Malcolm Campbell, the Englishman, is the favorite gathering of all.

At least a dozen men from America's automobile racing capitol, Indianapolis, are sitting around Campbell's hotel lobby here seeking lessons that can be used to better cars and conditions for the annual 500 mile race at Indianapolis May 31.

There is "Wild Bill" Cummings, who won the 1934 race in record making time, and there was Dave Evans, another driver, who left after setting a new world record for Diesel engines.

There's "Pop" Myers, president of the Indianapolis Speedway, and Al Rickenbacker, brother of Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker, famous war ace and pre-war driver, both speedway officials. Thodde Porter, Indianapolis official timer since 1912, and Waldo Stein, the nation's outstanding authority on speed tires, and August Deussenberg, who builds racing cars.

The thing that fascinates them about Campbell's car is that it is the lightest motor ever built for horsepower. The lessons he has learned of streamlining, carburetion, manifold, braking and a dozen other things intrigue them.

So far Sir Malcolm hasn't taken anyone for a personally conducted tour through the innards of mighty Bluebird, holder of the 272.168 mile an hour record. That's part of the code.

They sit, waiting for the beach to smooth so that Sir Malcolm can shoot for the 300 miles an hour that is his dream, and they tell stories, thrilling experiences on the track, mysteries.

Their tales may lure one of England's greatest drivers, Major Goldie Gardner, into an Indianapolis race. If Campbell's effort is long delayed, two years ago in the Ulster Tourist Tour in Ireland, his car hit a gully when forced out by another, leaped 50 feet into the air, and turned end over end three times before smashing into the ground.

"Crashing's not bad," he says, "you feel something's coming, and then everything goes dark. If you wake up, the worst is over. If you don't, why it's all over."

Bell Explains Why He Plays Mixed Doubles

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The national indoor mixed doubles championship, or for that matter, any mixed doubles competition, is made possible largely through the kindness of men players.

That's the way Berkeley Bell, veteran campaigner and recent ranking player in the country, views teaming with a woman player. There are exceptions, however, he hastened to add.

"If you're lucky enough to draw a good partner," Bell said, "why it works out okay, although the majority of the women can't handle the steam that comes off a man's racket and they often find it difficult to move around fast enough to be in the right position at the right time."

"Why, then, did you bother to play in this year's mixed doubles championship?" he was asked.

300 Athletes Clash Tonight In National A.A.U. Track Meet

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The never-ending assault on time and space will be carried forward tonight as 300 athletes from 20 states flash their speed and skill in the National A. A. U. indoor championships in Madison Square Garden.

The most impressive array of talent the indoor campaign has seen includes such standouts as Ralph Metcalfe, fleet negro from Marquette; Glenn Cunningham, the world's most consistent miler, indoors or out; Jack Torrance, 300-pound weight man from Louisiana State; Chuck Horn, postel, Indiana's all-but-unbeatable running machine at distances from 600 to 1,000 yards; Jesse Owens, Ohio State's negro sprinter and broad-jumper extraordinary; Cornelius Johnson, lanky negro high jumper from Los Angeles, and a host of others.

Some of the glamour has been rubbed off Cunningham's bid for his second successive 1,500 meter crown because of the trouncing of the Kansas handed Gene Venzke and Bill Bonthron in the Wanamaker mile of the New York A. C. games and his conquest of the same pair in the Milwaukee meet. But Venzke and Bonthron both will be in there trying again tonight.

Metcalfe, busy studying law, has had little time for track this winter and may be shown by his 60-meter sprint title by any one of his three negro rivals—Owens, Ben Johnson of Columbia, or Eulace Peacock of Temple.

Hornbostel may go after the 600-meter crown as well as the 1,000 which he won a year ago. He is a standout at the longer route but would meet tough competition from his fellow-Indianian, Ivan Fuqua, as well as from Glenn (Slats) Hardin of Louisiana State, Milton Sandler of New York, and Elton Brown of Pittsburg (Kans.) Teachers College at 600 meters.

Torrance, who holds the world outdoor record for the shot put at 57 feet one inch, will try to displace Leo Sexton's indoor standard of 52 feet 8 1/2 inches.

197 CCC Men Enrolled At Boiceville Camp

Shokan, Feb. 21—The present enrollment of Co. 215, C. C. C., at Camp No. 2, Boiceville, is 197 men. Since the inauguration of the camp in June, 1933, with an original enlistment of 30, a total of 452 men have been enrolled, served their time, and been discharged. Commissioned officers now at the camp are as follows: Commanding officer, Nathan Armour, first lieutenant infantry reserves; camp surgeon, Sidney Glass, first lieutenant medical reserve corps; mess officer, Raymond Hudson, second lieutenant C. A. R. The educational adviser is Michael R. Frolich.

Amateur night is held in the recreation center every other week with stage talent from the several barracks competing for prizes. The boys have been the guests of the Broadway Theatre, Kingston, three times. Every two weeks the woodsmen are taken to town in camp trucks to witness a popular motion picture. Thus far the boys have seen: College Humor, The President Vanishes, and Kentucky Kernels. Every one at the camp is grateful to Managers Hall and Gildersleeve of the Kingston theatres for their kindness and courtesy in connection with these good times afforded the members of Company 215, many of whom are Ulster county lads. Camp No. 2, recently, was adjudged "Superior" by inspecting officers in respect to discipline, good food, sanitation and administration. This rating is a source of pride to the camp personnel as well as to the hundreds of outside persons who are keenly interested in the local project for various reasons.

Midway, Two Dots In Pacific, To Greet Fliers

Cable Base Atoll Offers Shelter For Planes

Midway, Pacific Ocean, (P).—The distant roar of a powerful airplane climbing over the sea horizon will be a welcome sound to the two dozen inhabitants of this tiny atoll planted in the middle of the earth's greatest ocean.

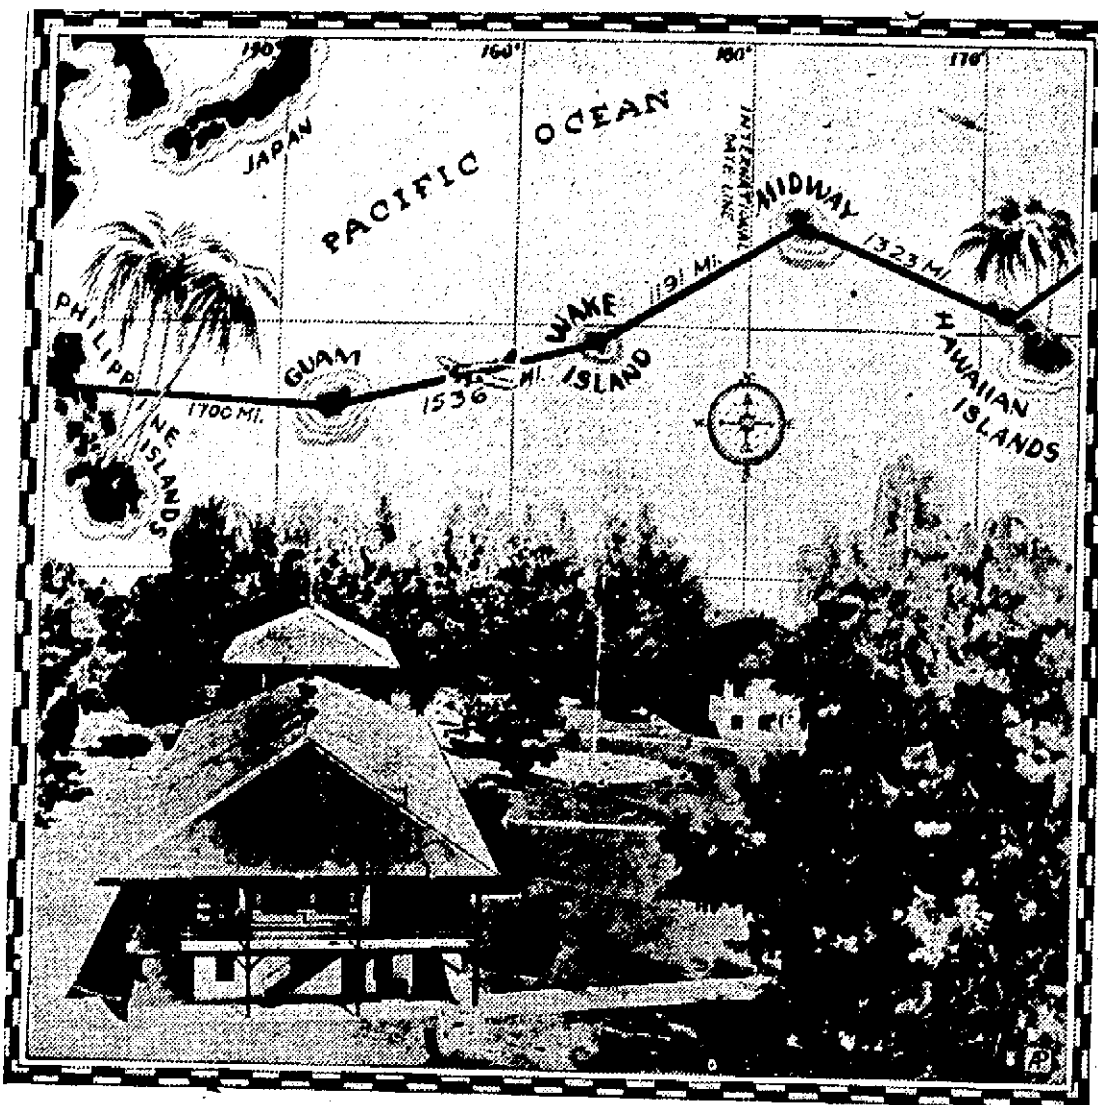

Employed here to keep the Pacific cable in working order they already are looking forward to greeting the first great clipper of the Pan-American Airways fleet which is expected to alight here in April on the way from Honolulu to Wake Island and thence to Guam, Manila and China.

Sheltered Area Between Islands
Midway is not the name of an island but is the descriptive term for the location of two islands, Sand Island and Eastern Island. The two dots of land were built up by the sands that lodge in the coral atoll surrounding what presumably was once an undersea volcano.

The inhabitants live on Sand Island, and it is in the sheltered area between the two islands that it is proposed the airplanes should alight.

With the exception of a few sections of the vast south Pacific, Midway is as far from a continent in every direction as any spot on the face of the globe.

Nearly 4,000 miles of water lie between it and North America; it is more than 4,000 miles to the Asiatic mainland and 1,000 miles to Honolulu.

The two dozen inhabitants of Midway, two tiny islands in the Pacific, already are looking forward to greeting the seaplane expected to establish a transpacific trail this spring. The buildings shown here on Sand Island, Midway, were put up in 1933 when the place was nothing but a sand waste. But the inhabitants, whose job is to keep the Pacific cable in working order, brought trees from Honolulu to help establish a tropical garden. The map shows a proposed transpacific air route, which China is considered the most difficult so far as typhoons are concerned but weather reports by wireless are expected to minimize danger.

Like Tropical Garden

Sand Island, the larger of the two specks, is about one and three-quarters miles long and a little less wide. On it are the buildings put up in 1933 when the island was nothing but a sand waste. All the structures have double windows, so made to keep out sand storms. Now the place is like a tropical garden, with huge trees that grew from seedlings brought from Honolulu in tiny pots. There are many difficulties that aviation companies must conquer in laying a mail and passenger air line across the Pacific in this locality. Not the least of these is the weather. There have been winds that blew 100 miles an hour at Midway, and a gentle south breeze has been known to veer round into a 50-mile gale from the north in the course of a few hours.

Dodging Typhoons Held Easy For Airmen

San Francisco, (P).—Typhoons lie in the path of transpacific fliers, but the thoroughness of preparation which has preceded the proposed inauguration of airplane service between Alameda, Cal., and Canton, China, should assure against their constituting any considerable hazard, says Major E. H. Bowie, veteran weather man of the United States bureau here.

Besides its own meteorological service, the American-orient air line will have the advantage of highly scientific weather reporting from Tokyo, Manila and other points in the far east, and from San Francisco—all of which are broadcast at regular intervals.

Planes Can Dodge Typhoons
The art of spotting typhoons, so that they can be circumvented, is based primarily upon reports from ships at sea. While they are the counterpart of the storm which is termed "a hurricane" in this country, "they usually have a narrow diameter," Major Bowie explains, and for that reason an airplane easily can fly around them.

Despite its great distance—2,400 land miles—the first leg of the trans-Pacific route, that from Alameda to Hawaii, probably will not prove the most difficult. Ships along this route are numerous and the area can be well mapped.

But from Midway on, particularly between Guam and China, the line of ships is thin and typhoons develop quickly.

Observatory Sends Reports
The area of the most frequent typhoons is in the section covered by the Manila observatory and the information it gathers is made available to ships and airplane companies by wireless.

These other periodic reports go out by international code, consisting chiefly of numerals which are interpreted and readily understood by navigators.

The San Francisco bureau maps the Pacific from Alaska to the China sea daily, and scores of ships report regularly.

Interests supporting the proposed transpacific flying service have been conducting a study of the weather factors along the route for months.

Farm and Home Bureaus

Kingston Unit.

The rearranged program of the Kingston Unit is as follows:
February 26—1:30 p. m., Home Bureau office, clip covers.
March 1—10 a. m., Home of Mrs. Winne, 268 Washington avenue, second lesson, household crafts, all day meeting, Mrs. Swope of State College.

March 14—10 a. m., Home Bureau office, "Pepping up the Spring Wardrobe," all day meeting, Miss Morehouse. Guests invited.
March 19—10 a. m., Home Bureau office, third lesson household crafts, all day meeting, Mrs. Swope. Remarkable interest and enthusiasm has been shown by the members of this unit in the many projects undertaken, especially as there are so many important things to take the time of these city women. The thought comes to mind that "the busiest people are the ones who find time to do worthwhile things."

The program for the year '34-'35 was planned as having two meetings per month, but except at Christmas time, this unit has had groups of members meeting every week, therefore a number of things have been accomplished.

From attics, cellars and auction shops dilapidated looking pieces of furniture were brought to the improvised "work shop" at Home Bureau, and under the guidance of instructors, developed into things of beauty. For instance, two old painted chairs, bought for 20c, when refinished, proved to be curly maple. In the reconditioning class, a "poor old down trodden couch" was pulled apart, rebuilt and upholstered, and developed into a beautiful studio couch. Old Morris chairs that had been eyesores for years, with a lot of hard work, patience and assistance, turned into upholstered wing chairs, nice enough for anyone or anywhere. Old arm chairs that had nothing left but their nice old frames and a few springs and bits of hair protruding here and there, were worked on until they again were fit for society, and at no great expense. Some of the chairs needed just a slip cover that really fitted to make them useful and attractive. Much time and labor is given to these projects but one feels it is worth the effort.

Mrs. Roosevelt Has Doubt Bruno Guilty

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, keeping engagements in three cities yesterday and today, told interviewers here that, "While I have absolutely no sympathy for Hauptmann, I can't help wondering what would happen if it were an innocent person on trial."

Emphasizing that comment on the case of Bruno Hauptmann was not pertinent unless the speaker had attended his trial for the killing of the Lindbergh baby, she said, "The only thing that troubled me was that the conviction was on circumstantial evidence."

Her remarks were in support of a similar interview which she had given earlier yesterday at Atlantic City. She spoke on a commercially sponsored radio program last night, telling her listeners "Martha Washington's good taste in expressing no public opinions that differed with her husband still holds good, for the responsibility to the electorate is his, and the leadership should remain therefore in his hands."

Mrs. Washington would end her formal leave at 3 o'clock because that was the President's bedtime, the speaker said, while the Rooseveltian hour to retire is "at one o'clock."

"Today we die at 7:45 or 8 o'clock," she said, "and it is often 1 o'clock before the night's work is done."

She attended Sean O'Casey's "Within the Gates," the play which was banned from Boston, after her broadcast last night.

Young Republicans Plan to Seize Party

Chicago, Feb. 23 (AP).—With the revolt of young Republicans from present party leadership thrust into the open by a speech at Kansas City of their national committee chairman, George Olmstead of Des Moines, the plan for seizing control was disclosed today.

Briefly said Fletcher Lusby of Chicago, regional director of young Republican activities for Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, it is:

Elect enough delegates to young Republican "liberal" parties to gain control of the party's national convention in 1936.

Concentration of efforts leading up to the election of delegates at next year's primaries will get under way in a month or six weeks, Lusby said, with the establishment of national headquarters for the young Republicans, probably in Chicago.

The present membership of the young Republicans is estimated by Lusby at 10,000,000, based on "honor rolls" sent out prior to the 1932 national election and returned signed.

Figuring that 40 per cent or 25,000,000 of the electorate is under 35 years of age, hoping to recruit vast numbers from that group not now members and asserting many dissatisfied Republicans and Democrats interested in a liberal constitutional Republican party would join up, Lusby declared the young Republicans could not fail to reach their goal.

Old Man Winter Nods His Head; Snow Falls

The March-like winds that have swept the city during the past few days led residents to think that spring was only just around the corner, and to dispel that impression Old Man Winter nodded his head during the night and this morning when householders awoke it was to find the sidewalks and streets hidden under a covering of snow. During the early morning hours the snow changed to hail which formed a thick crust on top of the snow that had fallen, and as the morning advanced the hail changed to rain which clung to the windshields of automobiles and froze, making driving a difficult and dangerous job for it was impossible to look through the windshield and drivers drove their cars with their heads sticking out of the side windows to see if the coast was clear ahead of them.

SOUTH RONDOUT
South Rondout, Feb. 23.—The Connelly Men's Club will meet Monday, February 25, at 7:30 p. m. to make final arrangements for the roast beef supper to be held on Wednesday, February 27.

Measles have been prevalent in the village among young and old. Charles Snyder of Buffalo is spending a few days at his home. Clarence Hyde and daughter, Janice, of Kingston, were supper guests on Sunday of Mr. Hyde's father, Liberty Hyde, and sister, Mrs. Fred Fox.

Mrs. Ira Maurer and daughter, June, and son, Francis, were guests of Mrs. Edward Sanford of East Chester street, Kingston, on Friday. Mrs. Stella MacDonald was struck by a car in Kingston on Wednesday and injured her knee.

The fund raised at this party will be used to help defray costs of needed dental work and other health measures among the children of the school.
